Historic Fort Mitchel Tours 2026

Fort Mitchel 65 Skull Creek Drive, Hilton Head Island, SC, United States

Ft Mitchel in Hilton Head Plantation, a site on the National Register of Historic Places

Immerse yourself in the fascinating Civil War history of Hilton Head Island with a visit to Fort Mitchel. The site contains the remains of a coastal defense battery erected in 1862 to protect the Port Royal Sound by way of Skull Creek from incursions by Confederate gunboats based in the Savannah River. Costumed characters and an expert tour guide will demonstrate the vital historic importance of this place and the role the fort and its namesake, General Mitchel, played in shaping Hilton Head history, including historic Mitchelville. Registration required!

$10.00

After the tour there will be a short bike ride. If you don't want to go on the tour, you can arrive for the ride at 11:00. If you do want to take the tour, you must register. To register, call Heritage Library at this phone number (843) 686.6560

Lunch Restaurant and Directions: Lunch will be at Hudson's on the Docks 1 Hudson Rd.
